Contents

Volume 4, Number 1, March 1983

Glucose solution intake in the rat: The specificity of postingestive satiety.
D. G. MOOK, J. A. BRANE, L. R. KUSHNER and J. A. WHITT 1-9

Suppression of feeding by sodium depletion in food-deprived rats.
M. B. DE GAMBAROTTO and E. CHIARAVIGLIO 11-21

A method for direct gastric feeding and the effect on voluntary ingestion in young swine.
J. C. PEKAS 23-30

Changes in the dietary habits of male workers in Warsaw plants over a period of four years.
W. KULESZA, S. RYWIK, Z. CHWOJNOWSKA, J. RADZANOWSKA and A. MARCZUK 31-41

Naloxone reduces the food intake of normal human volunteers.
E. TRENCHARD and T. SILVERSTONE 43-50

Book reviews 51-56

 Lewis R. Binford, Bones: ancient man and modern myths (N. Toth)

Calendar of events 57-58

Announcements 10, 22

Volume 4, Number 2, June 1983

Another look at the control of behaviour by internal and external factors.
A. I. HOUSTON 59-65

Theories of ingestion—A reply to Houston.
F. M. TOATES 66-67

Acquired preferences for piquant foods by chimpanzees.
P. ROZIN and K. KENNEL 69-77

Learned food aversions: Heterogeneity of animal models of tumor induced anorexia.
I. L. BERNSTEIN and D. P. FENNER 79-86

Effect of gastric feeding on feed consumption, growth, organ size, and body composition of swine.
J. C. PEKAS 87-95

Strategies of protein selection by weanling and adult rats.
P. D. LEATHWOOD and D. V. M. ASHLEY 97-112

Protein and carbohydrate self-selection: Modification of the effects of fenfluramine and amphetamine by age and feeding regimen.
R. A. McARTHUR and J. E. BLUNDELL 113-124

“De-satiation”: The reinstatement of feeding in glucose-satiated rats.
D. G. MOOK, J. A. BRANE and J. A. WHITT 125-136
